Join SEAOSC online for a virtual training session on working with State Legislative representatives. This program will provide tactics on setting up meetings with staff, how to make those meetings most successful, and other insights about being as most effective as possible. Facilitated by John Bwarie, this session will feature special guest Seamus Garrity, Senior Representative for Assemblymember Laura Friedman. In this discussion, he'll provide examples of what works and what doesn't to help move an idea forward in the state legislature. Attendees will be able to more effectively interact with state elected officials to address concerns of the profession and personal passion issues. Don't miss this unique opportunity.
